

Privacy Policy

This site is controlled and operated by Neurofenix, Inc. Our highest priority is to ensure that your privacy is respected and that any data you provide to us is protected. Contact us directly to request further information.

Online Privacy Opt-in

Personal information is collected only when users voluntarily register at a Neurofenix site to receive newsletters, request a company representative contact them, or for other promotional opportunities. It is Neurofenix policy to maintain all personal information as confidential and to use it only for the purpose for which it was submitted. If you are already registered but no longer wish to receive messages from us, please let us know by phone, email or mail.

Sharing Data

Neurofenix never shares its contact list with any company or organization, neither does it sell or disclose any personally identifiable information about you unless you specifically register for a promotional offer. At any time, you may obtain a summary of your information on record with Neurofenix. You may request that Neurofenix destroy any information about you and remove you from our database at any time.

Aggregate Data

As with all servers on the Internet, the computers that deliver the Web pages to you identify your computer by its unique IP address or that of your ISP. The servers automatically record the name of the domain from which you accessed the site and the type of operating system and web browser that you use. The data are collected for one-time use only and are analyzed to identify broad demographic trends. This information cannot be used to identify you personally.

Children and Privacy

Under no circumstances does Neurofenix intentionally collect personal data from any person under the age of 18. If you are under 18, please ask a parent to provide any information requested.

Contact us:

Neurofenix, Inc.
3350 Riverwood Pkwy
Suite 1900
Atlanta, GA 30339
(800) 945-8132
privacy@neurofenix.com